O'DONNELL'S PLEA.

Efforts Made to Save the Avenger's Life.

What Sullivan Says Will Be the Line of Defense—O'Donnell Ready With a Statement That He Was Sent to Do the Deed—Engage Sells From New York to Render What Assistance He Can.

LONDON, Oct. 4.—O'Donnell, the slayer of Carey, is said to have made a statement emphatically denying that he was sent to murder Carey. He says he and Carey were sitting together in the cabin, and Carey began to fasten a quarrel upon him, when O'Donnell remarked about the rumor that Power (by which name Carey shipped) was Carey, whereupon Carey and he started up, each with a pistol drawn. O'Donnell gripped Carey's collar with his left hand, but being paralyzed, lost his grip. Carey then crushed him down against the end of the table, putting his pistol in O'Donnell's face. O'Donnell grabbed the pistol and fired his own. Carey's weapon falling on the floor, six feet away. Carey ran partly stooped to pick it up, when O'Donnell fired again, not deliberately, but to save his life. According to O'Donnell's statement the story of Carey's son, that he took his father's pistol from his bag after the shooting, is untrue. He took it off the floor.

Sullivan, counsel for O'Donnell, gave the following summary of O'Donnell's defense: Till the day after he reached Cape Town O'Donnell says he never for a moment suspected Power to be Carey. Seeing him to be an Irishman like himself he chummed with him and was kind to the children because they seemed to be in misery. He was further attracted to Carey by his occasional moody, mysterious manner, and thought he was possibly a political onest escape. The day after they left the Cape it was rumored that Carey was aboard. O'Donnell was overcome by the idea that he had been giving his hand to and chumming with such a villain, and he lay awake all night moaning and groaning at the thought, unable to believe or disbelieve. He had had, as the crown witness, Greenbough, not forthcoming here, testified at the Cape, plenty of opportunities for throwing Carey overboard on the way out, had he suspected his identity. In order to draw Carey out, and contrary to his usual abstemious habits, he drank rather freely the next morning (Sunday) with Carey. The informer, suspecting something, changed his manner to O'Donnell, and on going into the saloon for beer said: "What have you done with your pistol, O'Donnell? It made me nervous when you fired at those flying fish." O'Donnell replied, lying: "I sold it. But why are you afraid? Only a man with something on his conscience would be dragged into the row, had left them. Carey took a heaving tone, and as some men, who had been previously sitting, sprang to their feet, he said, "O'Donnell, you are both ready to go off at half cock," and grappled O'Donnell, who took Carey's collar by his left and paralyzed hand Carey and he then each put their hands in their pockets and drew out their pistols. "I came from a part of America where people don't wait to inquire into a man's intentions when his pistol is against your forehead," I said, relates O'Donnell, "and I fired with my right hand. Carey's revolver went off and dropped on the floor. Its owner staggered forward, stooping pick up his weapon. Seeing this I fired again. Tom Carey then picked up his father's pistol." Sullivan is hopeful of convicting Tom Carey of perjury on the point and in regard to his utterance to O'Donnell after the shooting.

New York, Oct. 4.—General Roger A. Pryor has sailed for England to become one the counsel for O'Donnell. He thinks it will require stronger evidence than has yet been given to secure a conviction, if there is a fair trial.

A Hunter Accidentally Shot.
WHITE HALL, Ill., Oct. 4.—Near Detroit, Pike county, three boys, named Edward Densmore, Ralph Phillips and Heavener were out hunting with shot-guns. Not having very good success they proposed to shoot at a mark. Phillips and Heavener started in advance of Densmore, and had gone but a short distance when hearing a gun fired, they turned and found that young Densmore had received a shot in his left breast just under the collar bone. He lived but a few minutes and could give no account of the accident.

Hutton Will Not Resign.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 4.—In reply to the question as to whether he was going to resign, Assistant Postmaster General Hutton replied, "Not by a sight." A gentleman in rapport with the administration says, "Mr. Hutton will not resign but Mr. Hutton will not be where he is very long."

"He will be kicked out, you mean?"
"That is the inference, I believe. He is not of the resigning kind. He worked too hard to get in to go out of his own accord."

A Tramp's Death From Starvation.
JOLIET, Ill., Oct. 4.—The dead body of a tramp was found in a sidetrack old box car at Hampton Station, fifteen miles south of this place, on the Chicago & Alton road. The body was frightfully decomposed and alive with vermin. The coroner's inquest developed the fact that he was found there six days ago sick and nearly starved to death by some people residing near by. They gave him food, but he was so sick too eat and died from neglect and starvation.

Snow in the Wasatch Range.
SALT LAKE, Oct. 4.—The first snow of the season shines bright and clear on the Wasatch range.

KILLING THE OLD MAN

A Woman Gashes Her Husband's Throat in a Drunken Quarrel.

New York, Oct. 4.—Inhabitants residing in the tenements on Lewis street, between East Houston and Stanton, were startled by cries of "Murder! Murder! She's killed me!" An instant later a man in his stocking feet rushed out of No. 89 Lewis street with blood streaming from wounds in his throat and head. He fell to the ground from loss of blood and was then conveyed to Bellevue Hospital. He was Christopher Farley, an ice-wagon driver, residing with his wife and two children on the top floor of 89 Lewis street. The police entered and found Mrs. Farley washing up the pools of blood upon the floor.

"I guess that'll fix him," she said. "We only had a little quarrel, and he stuck a knife in his throat," she said to the officers.

It was learned, however, that the couple had been drinking and quarrelling. Mrs. Farley then used a dishpan to punctuate her remarks. Then they clutched each other and Mrs. F. seized a table-knife. Mr. and Mrs. Butten, neighbors, rushed in between them, but the knife had done its work, and Mr. Farley rushed from the room with a deep gash in his throat and stab and other wounds over the face and body. The wife then coolly threw down the knife and began to clean the floor. Farley's throat is gashed near the jugular vein, and it is feared that he can not survive. The wife was arrested and held on a charge of felonious assault at the Eleventh Precinct Station-house. She lay there in a drunken stupor moaning out: "He killed himself. He killed himself."

The two little children sat in the middle of the floor crying as if their hearts would break. The little girl sobbed out, "Mamma and papa fit and mamma killed papa." People residing in the house say that the couple became constantly involved in quarrels, but the wife generally came off victorious. The couple have been married about one year. He is the stepfather of her children.

TARDY TAXPAYERS.

Rich Washingtonians Who Are Late in Paying Taxes.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—The Collector of Taxes for the District of Columbia is now engaged in selling property for the payment of real estate taxes of 1882, which taxes were due in November, 1882, and May, 1883, and yet remained unpaid. He has published a list of names of persons in arrears. One of the first to strike the eye—the names are arranged in alphabetical order—is that of Wm. E. Chandler. As the directory gives no William E. Chandler except the Secretary of the Navy it is fair to suppose that that gentleman is the one referred to. The name of J. A. J. Crosswell as one of the commissioners of the late Freedmen's Bank is also prominent. William F. Claflie is another name of note, and near it is that of Thomas T. Crittenden. The name of W. W. Corcoran, Washington's millionaire, appears in several places, that of Zachariah Chandler follows. Howard University, the freedmen's school, is in arrears on several hundred lists in various parts of the city. The Hon. Wm. Walter Phelps is also on the list. A long list, some twenty or thirty lists, follows the name of "Boss" Shepherd. Three other names of prominence included in the list are Walter Evans, Washington McLean and Colonel Enoch Totten. In the "R" list appears the name of George R. Robeson, and in the next list appears the name of John Sherman.

Beginning Life as Burglars.

Troy, N. Y., Oct. 4.—Detectives Flynn, O'Hairn and Campbell arrested Edward Burns, aged sixteen years, and Frank Tobin, aged seventeen, on suspicion of having committed the burglary at the store of Carter & Saunders, on River street, Sunday night. When locked up Tobin confessed the crime and implicated other boys, who will be arrested. Two boxes of stolen knives were recovered on Green Island, where they had been sold. The youthful prisoners were in the morning brought before Justice Jemmyss, who remanded them to await the action of the Grand Jury. Tobin states that two other boys broke into the place and that two men removed the property, a portion of which was given the prisoners, who buried a number of knives, a pair of club skates and a harmonica in a lot on Eighth street. The detectives visited the lot, but the booty had been disinterred and taken away. Tobin also declares that articles of value which they could not carry were thrown into the river.

SHAKESPEARE'S BONES.

Final Settlement of the Question of Their Exhumation.

STRAFORD-UPON-AVON, Oct. 4.—It August last Dr. Hughley, one of the life trustees of the birthplace of Shakespeare, and author of "Shakespeare's Home," proposed that the remains of Shakespeare should be exhumed in order to compare the poet's skull with the monument bust in the church, as well as to set at rest the question of the correctness of many conflicting portraits of the poet in existence. The proposition received the indorsement of Rev. G. Arbuthnot, vicar of this place. Upon reference to the terms of sepulture, however, it was ascertained that the remains could not be exhumed or disturbed without consent of the mayor and officers of the city corporation. The mayor refused assent, and the matter has now been finally settled by the city council, which passed a resolution condemning any disturbance of Shakespeare's grave.

Coming Home to Vote.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—A number of department employees who have residences in Ohio leave Washington this week and go home to vote. Those who go, however, will not be allowed any time by the department except such as is taken from their annual leaves of absence.

M'STEEN HANGED.

A Pittsburg Wife Murderer Gets His Deserts.

An Extraordinary Wild Beast Who Loved Children, Did Not Drink, and Yet Abused His Family and Chopped His Wife Up With an Axe—His Last Hours and Final Taking Off.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 4.—James McSteen was hanged in the yard of the county jail. The execution was conducted quietly and was witnessed by 200 persons. The doomed man retired early and slept all night. At 5 o'clock in the morning he arose, and after making a careful toilet partook of a hearty breakfast. He was visited later by two Sisters of Mercy and his spiritual adviser, Father Ward. None of his relatives put in an appearance. At 11 o'clock he left his cell for the scaffold attended by Father Ward and the Sheriff. He walked erect and ascended the scaffold with a firm step. When asked if he had anything to say he replied: "No." The cap was then placed over his head and his hands tied. At 11:05 the drop was sprung and in the fall his neck was broken. In eight minutes he was pronounced dead. The crime for which he suffered the highest penalty of the law was uxoricide. On the evening of June 9, 1882, he sent his little boy out of the house on some pretense, and when the little fellow returned he found his mother lying on the floor with her skull crushed in and a bloody ax on the floor beside her. His father had died, but was arrested the same night. When the trial came up it was clearly shown that he had committed the deed, and he was accordingly convicted. As the last hours of McSteen's life passed he seemed to be more composed and more ready to meet his fate bravely and resignedly. Father Ward, as he emerged from the doomed man's cell, said: "I never saw a man who seemed to possess so kind a nature, nor a man who could be further from doing any one ill. He loves children, and has a refinement of nature that very few illiterate men like himself possess. I think," said Father Ward, "that he will die as he now is and has been, bravely, and without saying a word. He has nothing to say to the public, nor do I yet know of any statement that he will make. He has refused to have his picture taken," said the reverend gentleman, "on very good grounds, I think. He objects to having his picture hanging on the walls of the jail office and have people come there and say in the presence of the public, 'there is the picture of a murderer.' Besides, it is his desire to pass from the recollection of the people as soon as possible after the execution."

OVER NIAGARA.

A Case of Criminal Brutality to a Horse.

NIAGARA FALLS, Oct. 4.—There has been considerable excitement here about the sending of an old horse over the Niagara Falls. The animal was probably forty years old, and had been used in the service of the Cataract House for at least twenty years. One night this week D. R. Jerrand, one of the proprietors of the hotel, Pat McCoy, and two others, drove the horse to the river midway between Goat Island Bridge and the lower entrance to Prospect House. A piece of railing was knocked off and an effort made to induce the animal to enter the water. The old horse lay down and could not be induced to get up. He was finally pushed off the bank into the water, eight feet below. The water was three feet deep and the current very slow. The brute stood for an hour under a pelting of stones. He grew weak, and was slowly carried toward the cataract. At Prospect Park he regained his feet, and with a sudden display of energy gained the bank. Again he was pushed into the stream. A leg was broken and he was scratched and bruised, a little trail of blood marking the place where he stood in the park. A policeman was notified, and several bullets were fired into the horse. After having been in the water nearly five hours the animal gave up the struggle and was carried over the falls.

The case was brought to the attention of the Buffalo Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, and Officer Lobstein arrested the four men for cruelty to animals. They were taken before Justice Clark and demanded a jury trial. The jury found a verdict of "Not guilty," on the ground, as one of the jury expressed it, "that the cruelty was not premeditated." The case may be taken before the grand jury at Lockport.

The Great West India Hurricane.

New York, Oct. 4.—A resident of the Island of Nassau, West Indies, who has arrived here, says it is seventeen years since Nassau has been visited by such a storm. Some seventy vessels are now piled up on the shores of the island, and eighty lives were lost. Over 100 barns were demolished and the crops all ruined.

Wind and Rain at Kansas City.

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 4.—A severe storm of wind and rain burst upon the city, flooding the streets and cellars and doing general damage, estimated at $3,000. Two bridges over creeks in the city were swept away. Five thousand dollars worth of damage is reported from Wyandott, where the water works suffered greatly. The storm is reported general in the West.

Choked to Death.

FORT WAYNE, Ind., Oct. 4.—Mrs. Sathern, an elderly lady, mother of an engineer on the Southern & Fort Wayne road, choked to death by getting a piece of meat lodged in her throat.

A Heavy Snow in Canada.

MANITWAT, Que., Oct. 4.—Snow has been falling fast since 10 a. m., and the weather is cold and disagreeable.

THE NEWSPAPER WAR.

Establishment of the Herald News Stands.

New York, Oct. 4.—The Herald announces that as soon as possible the Herald would have its own news stands in different parts of the city, at which the Herald and other city papers would be sold at the price printed upon them, and not at the price which the retail newsdealers might consider proper. An advertisement for 500 men and women to sell the Herald appeared in the same issue. According to the manager of the business department more than 400 persons made application, most of them available candidates for the positions offered. Carpenters are now making stands. It is the expectation to have the stands opened for business Monday morning. The Board of Aldermen adopted a resolution, giving Colonel George F. Williams, manager of this new department of the Herald, permission to place during business hours a stand on the sidewalk within a distance of fifty feet of each stairway leading to the stations of the Manhattan Railway Company, for the sale of newspapers.

THE RED MEN.

The Confession of a Ringleader of the Gang.

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Oct. 4.—The mysterious mail robberies and other daring depredations, which for the last year have been terrorizing the neighborhood of Philippi, this State, have been explained by the confession of the ringleader of the gang. An order known as the Red Men, whose ostensible object was to promote law and order did the deeds. Several of the members were quite prominent citizens, including among them Noah Kittles who for years bore an excellent reputation and who was the leader of the gang. Several members were arrested and have been on trial, Kittles among others. Wednesday night Kittles made a clean breast of the whole affair, giving the names of all the members of the gang. Great excitement prevails and there will be no let-up until are in the penitentiary.

FREE TRADERS.

Meeting of the Great St. Louis Conference.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 4.—The free trade conference concluded its labors with a long debate between some members who insisted on absolute free trade and others who favored an attempt to eliminate protection as a first step. The latter opinion prevailed. An address to the people of the country was adopted, declaring that protection was a ruinous measure, and that all possible means should be taken to abolish it immediately. Most of the gentlemen declared they were straight out free traders in theory, but thought it wise to strike at protection. As a preliminary step a literary bureau was agreed upon to furnish free trade matter to the press generally, especially to the country papers.

STANDARD OIL.

Meeting of the Pennsylvania Legislature Committee.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 4.—The Legislative Committee, consisting of three Senators and five Representatives, appointed to investigate the character of the testimony taken in the Standard Oil Company investigation, is in session here. The committee is empowered by the legislative resolution to "inquire into the legal relations of the Standard Oil Company to the state, into its conduct as to the payment of taxes to the state, and into the right and power of the state to require by statute payment of taxes by said company or any foreign corporation."

Tumble in Boots and Shoes.

Boston, Oct. 4.—Hill & Rowe, boot and shoe manufacturers, No. 2 Hight street, have failed. Their liabilities are not stated. The firm is an old one and well known, and considerable surprise is expressed at their failure. They have a factory at Stoneham.

Boston, Oct. 4.—Canterbury & Haskell, boot and shoe manufacturers, have suspended, with liabilities of about $190,000, of which $34,000 is accommodation endorsements on paper of F. Shaw & Bros. The assets are nominally about $220,000. With two years' extension the firm think they can pay their indebtedness in full.

The Trade of Smuggling Chinamen.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 4.—Smuggling Chinese across the border from British Columbia has become a thriving business. A Victoria colonist confirms the statement that notwithstanding the representations of the treasury agent sent to investigate the matter, Chinese smuggling is so largely carried on that Victoria has become a rendezvous for Chinese who seek to cross over into the United States; that a large number of sawmills on Puget Sound employing Chinese is the immediate cause why so many are smuggled over in that section.

The Debt of Tennessee.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 4.—The board appointed to fund the bonded indebtedness of the State, under the act passed by the last session of the Legislature, have about concluded their work, having funded only one-twenty-sixth part of the debt. The bondholders have not sent in their bonds to the extent that was anticipated by the Legislature, and considerable disappointment is felt by those who were most active in bringing about the refunding of the debt.

A Tale of Tails.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 4.—A novel sight was witnessed in the City Hall when Dr. A. E. Waits presented to the Mayor the tips of 342 tails of stray dogs that he had killed, in accordance with the city ordinance, during the past three months. Homeless curs in Boston are killed by a process that takes but a minute and a half.

PECK'S BAD BOY AND HIS PA.

The Boy Tells About His Pa and the Minister—Also About Getting on the Wrong Road.

Peck's son.

"Say, you think of about everything mean there is going, don't you," said the groceryman to the bad boy, as he came in to show that his black eye had been cured. The minister explained to me yesterday how you caused him and your father to lay and soak in the water for about three hours, one hot day last summer, in the lake, and they both blistered their backs. The minister says the skin has not stopped peeling off his shoulders yet. What caused you to play such a mean trick on them?"

"O, it was their own fault," said the boy, as he looked with disdain on a watermelon that was out of season, and had no charms in October. "You see, the night the sociable was at our house, the minister and some of the deacons were up in my room, which they used that night for a smoking room, and while they were smoking they were telling stories about what fun they had when they were boys, and I remember one story the minister told about finding some girls in swimming once, and stealing their clothes, and making them wait till night, and then a girl had to fix herself up with newspapers and go home and send a wagon after the rest of the girls. The minister thought it was awful cunning, so when the church had the picnic last summer on the bank of the lake, I remembered about it. Beats all, don't it how a boy will remember anything like that? Well, after dinner I saw pa whisper to the minister, and they took a couple of towels and a piece of soap, and started off up the lake about half a mile, and I knew they were going in swimming. Well, it didn't take me very long to catch on. I got an overdress that one of the girls had been wearing to wash dishes, and a shawl, and stole a hat belonging to the soprano of the choir, and a red parasol that a girl left under a tree, and I went down in the woods and put on the clothes, over my pants and things, and when pa and the minister had got in the water and were swimming around, I put up the parasol and tripped along the shore like a girl picking flowers, and when I came to the stump where they put their clothes I didn't look toward the water, but acted tired, and sat down on the stump and began to fan myself. You'd a dide to see pa look. He crawled up on the beach, in the shallow water, and said, 'Elder, do you see that?'"

The elder looked, with himself all under water except his head, and said, 'Merciful goodness, squire, we are in for it. That interesting female is going to sit there and read a novel through before she goes away.' I peeked through the fan and could see all they said, while I pretended to read a novel. They swam around and made a noise, but I was deaf, and I thought it wasn't any worse for me to sit on the stump than it was for the minister, when he was a good little boy, to steal the clothes of the girls. I stayed until I got tired and didn't hear them when they holed to me to go away, and after a while they got water soaked and had to do nothing, so the minister broke off a piece of a tree and dressed himself in it, and came up towards me, and said, 'Madam, excuse me for troubling you, but if you will go away while I get my clothes, I will take it as a favor.' I pretended to be insulted, and got up and walked off very indignant, and went back to the picnic and returned the clothes, and pretty soon they came up, looking as red as if they had been drinking, and the picnic was ready to go home. Somebody told pa it was me, but I don't know who it was that gave it away. Anyway, he chased me clear out of the woods with a piece of sapling. That was the time I told you I was too tired to ride, and walked home from the picnic. Pa has forgiven me, but I don't believe the minister ever will. Don't you think some of these pious folks are awful unforgiving?"

"O, people are not as good as you and I are," said the groceryman, as he watched the boy making a sneak on a bunch of grapes. "But did you go to the circus?"

"Circus? Well, I should assimilate. It is a wonder I am not there yet. But whatever you do, don't ask pa if he was at the circus, 'cause he will kill you. You see, pa and I drove up to the race track, where the circus was, in the evening, and after the circus was out, we waited to see the men take the tents down and after they had gone, we started to drive home. It was darker than a squaw's pocket, and I drove out on the race track, and the old horse used to be a racer, and he pricked up his ears. Pa took the lines and said he would drive, 'cause we were out late, and ma would be nervous. I told pa I didn't believe he was on the right road, but he said he guessed nobody could fool him about the road to town, and bless me if he didn't drive around that track about eight times. Every time we passed the grand stand, which pa couldn't see, on account of his eyes, I laughed, but I thought if he knew the road so confounded well I could ride as long as he could. After we had rode around the track about eight miles, and I was getting sleepy, I mildly suggested that maybe we had better stop at a house and inquire the way to town, and pa got mad and asked me if I took him for a fool. Then he drove around a couple of times more, and the man that keeps the track he came out with a lantern and said 'hello!' Pa stopped and asked him what he wanted and he said, 'O, nothing,' and pa drove on and told him to mind his business. We went around the track again, and when we got to the same place the man was there, and I guess pa thought it was time to inquire the way, so he pulled up, and asked the man what he was doing there, and the man said he was minding his own business. Pa asked him if we were on the right road to town, and the man said if we wasn't in any hurry he would like to have us drive on the track all night, as it was a little heavy, and he wanted to get it in condition to speed the colts the next day, but if we had to go we could drive out the gate and take the first left hand road. Well, pa was mad, and he wanted to know why I didn't tell him we were on the track, but I told him he seemed to know it all and it was dangerous to advise a man who knew it all. He didn't speak all the way to town, but when we put out the horse he said, 'Hennery, if this thing gets out your pa will have the reputation of being drunk. If you tell of it you are no friend of mine.' So I shall not say anything about it, 'cause it is a mean boy that will go back on his pa."

And the boy went out whistling "She's a Daisy."

The captain of a whaler just arrived at Dundee, Scotland, reports that he had an interview with natives near Dalrymple Rock, and they stated that they saw a party of white men east of Smith's sound who were supposed to belong to Lieut. Greeley's party.

The Confederate Soldiers' Home founded at Georgetown some three years ago, has been broken up, owing to lack of support by the friends of "the lost cause." The receipts were enough to keep the institution running, but not to pay off a debt of $5,000 incurred for the property. The inmates are dispersing in various directions.

The Post Office Department has just had its attention called to an ingenious method of raising the figures of the new postal notes. The plan consists in punching from a high figure in the note a piece of paper of the proper shape and size to fill up the hole previously punched by the postmaster through a lower figure. The written words or figures are then removed by acids, and blank filled in to correspond with the punched figures. Some of the notes have been changed so skillfully that it is very difficult to detect the alterations.

TO-DAY'S ADVERTISEMENTS.

L. T. Goebke—Property for sale or rent.
John Wheeler—Reduction in prices.

WHEN the humid rain cloud gathers,
Over all the starry spheres,
And the melancholy darkness,
Gently weeps in rainy tears;
'Tis a joy to press the pillow
Of a Maysville feather bed,
And contemplate the pleasant fact,
That another hog is dead.

The steamer Morning Mail will resume her place in this trade next Monday.

The steamer Scotia, in complete repair, passed up this morning for Wheeling and Pittsburg.

Rev. A. N. GILBERT will lecture at the Christian Church, in Sardis, next Monday and Tuesday nights.

COAL can be had at the Maysville elevators at twelve cents a bushel. The supply on hand is not large.

Owing to delay in getting the windows the Mayslick Baptist Church will not be re-opened Sunday next as was expected.

No less than twenty-five houses will be built in Chester next season. So much for cheap lots on reasonable terms. The Maysville real estate agents are largely entitled to credit for these improvements.

Rev. A. N. GILBERT will preach at the Christian Church in Washington next Sunday afternoon at half past three o'clock, provided it is not raining at half past two. The rain at that hour prevented the keeping of the appointment last Sunday.

"My daughter has taken the medicine faithfully, according to directions, and her health and spirits are now perfect. The humor is all gone from her face. I wish every anxious mother might know what a blessing Ayer's Sarsaparilla is in such cases."

Base burning stoves are now largely used in this city and are kept in stock by all of our dealers. The fuel used is anthracite coal which can be had for about $9 a ton. The average consumption of coal is from one to two pecks a day, according to the size of the stove.

Cards have been issued announcing the wedding of Miss Rosa B. Williams and Dr. J. T. Wallingford, of the Madison street Baptist Church, on Tuesday, October 16th. The bride is the daughter of Capt. R. S. Williams, who was at one time connected with this paper.

Another protected porker, and a general favorite in pig circles, ascended the golden stairs yesterday by the street car chute. Gone, but not forgotten: Dearest piggy thou has left us, And thy loss we deeply feel; We shall miss thy little capers, We shall miss thy little squeal.

The Morning Mail has been thoroughly overhauled and repaired, and is now practically a new boat, and a very handsome one at that. Her guards have been widened two and one-half feet on each side, and other appreciated improvements made. All the other boats of the line have been repaired also, and are now in first-class condition.

Mr. JOHN WHEELER advertises elsewhere a reduction in the price of oysters. The cheap grade may now be had as low as twenty cents a half can. He has also a full supply of fresh fish of several kinds. He received this morning from Baltimore a lot of deviled crabs, cooked in the shell. They have been prepared by people who know what they are about, and will be found very delicious. Go and try them.

It is the desire of the citizens' relief committee to rebuild all of the burned houses on Hord's Hill, eight in all, and it will be done provided the money can be raised. Thus far about $800 have been secured, and there are good reasons for believing further liberal contributions will be made. The immediate wants of the sufferers have been relieved, and they have been supplied to some extent with clothing, though they are still much in need of bed clothes and bedding. If there are any of our citizens who have such things to spare, they will be doing a really charitable act by sending them to the coal office of Mr. William Wormald, on Wall street, who has kindly consented to take charge of all articles contributed for the use of these destitute people.

Important Lectures.

Rev. A. N. Gilbert will begin a series of lectures at the Christian Church on next Sunday night, to be continued on each Sunday night for several weeks to come. The subject will be "The Harmony Between Science and Revelation in the History of Creation," in reply to Ingersoll and other skeptics. These lectures have been delivered as pay lectures to large audiences in several of the principal cities of the Union, but Mr. Gilbert has determined to give the opportunity to his congregation and its friends of hearing them free of expense. The lecture next Sunday night will be introductory to the series, and a vindication of the Bible in its relations to society and civilization. The public will be cordially welcome.

Mr. Gilbert will preach in the morning also, at the usual hour.

PERSONALS.

Mr. Barbor Russell is very ill. Prof. T. F. Leary is in the city, and will open a class in book-keeping soon.

Miss Lutie Pepper, of Columbus, O., is the guest of Misses Alice and Mattie Bateman.

Mr. Frank Wheatley son, of Thomas Wheatley, Esq., is very sick at Notre Dame, Ind.

Misses Lizzie and Tillie Altmeyer left Thursday to visit relatives in Newport, Ky., and Cincinnati, O.

Mr. John Love, an old Maysville boy, is in the city and has been warmly received by his old friends.

A Dance to Be Recommended.

Fashionable young people are calling upon somebody to invent a new dance. Suppose somebody invents one wherein the young lady dances around the house and helps her mother a little at housework. How would that step take?

LITTLE FREAKS OF FASHION.

Some Women Who Chop Their Curls and Some Who Carry Gold-Tipped Canes.

New York Evening Post.

Painted lace capotes will be the leading opera bonnets this year. Trimmings of silk or satin upon traveling dresses are now considered wholly "bad form."

Wide braids, heavily chased, and bangles, lace-pins and dog-collars of various patterns, all of solid silver, are again the height of fashion.

A party of English young ladies, well chaperoned, recently sojourning at Montreal, Canada, carried slender switch canes of ebony, with small gold heads, richly chased, and wore jockey caps of plain black velvet, which were most becoming and natty looking. Both cane and cap are said to be very fashionable abroad both in England and France.

The English fashion of cropping the hair short all over the head and forming it into little loose rings has again reached America, and many ladies are sacrificing their luxuriant tresses to the Moloch of the present mode. During an afternoon drive through a prominent city in Canada, the writer lately noticed no less than a score of ladies, both English and American, thus shorn. With this style of coiffure the jockey hat that is usually worn, excepting where the fashion is followed by middle-aged women; in this case the toque, or English walking hat, is seen, as no larger or broader hat can very well be kept secure without braid or puff to which it may be fastened. These short rippling locks are to a great degree charming on some heads—mostly with the rosy-faced girls in their teens, or not far out of them.

For and About Women.

Miss Cora Bennison, the Quincy, Ill., female lawyer, is making a tour around the world.

The monopoly of selling peanuts at the Silver Lake fair belongs to the woman's Christian Temperance Union, of Perry, N. Y.

Mrs. Julia Gardner Tyler, widow of ex-President Tyler, and Mrs. Sarah Childress Polk, widow of ex-President Polk, draw their pensions of $5,000 each at the agency in Knoxville, Tenn.

Prima donnas sometimes lose other valuables than diamonds during the exigencies of an American "season." A pug dog belonging to Miss Emma Elmsner, of the Hess Opera Company, recently jumped from a railway car and was killed, and the little lady is inconsolable.

The announcement that the Comtesse de Chambord has decided to take the veil will surprise no one familiar with the semi-eccelesiastical life she led before the death of her husband. She has always been noted for her abstemiousness and austerity of manner. In appearance she is tall and thin, and dresses habitually in the plainest of black silk costumes with no decorative treatment of the material. She will, it is said, spend the rest of her days in the cloisters of the convent at Gatz, and her large estates will go to the church.

Sufferers from the effects of quinine, used as a remedy for chills and fever, will appreciate Ayer's Ague Cure, a powerful tonic bitter, composed wholly of vegetable substances, without a particle of any noxious drug. Its action is peculiar, prompt and powerful, breaking up the chill, curing the fever, and expelling the poison from the system, yet leaving no harmful or unpleasant effect upon the patient.

Queer Performances in a Chicago House.

A Ghost Who Was Not to Be Scared by Thirty-two-Calibre Bullets—The Trouble Mr. Meistrup is Having and Suspecting as to the Cause Thereof.

CHICAGO, Oct. 4.—A ghost sent his card to the family of J. Meistrup, 134 Thirty-fifth street, one week ago last Tuesday night. The house is a white frame building, standing alone on the corner of Douglas avenue and Thirty-fifth street, and is owned by the estate of J. Gudergahn, a German, who died insane in the house. Gudergahn's relatives refused to live in the house on account of the stories told about ghosts, and about a man having been murdered there some time ago. Mr. Meistrup moved into the house three months ago. On the night named, while he was sitting with his wife and child, Mr. Meistrup heard a steady tramping, as though some one was climbing up the stairs leading from the basement, which was unoccupied. He quietly raised a window and called to a special watchman. They searched all over, but could find no one, and the doors were locked. The noises continued that Wednesday night. Meistrup employed watchmen, and they occupied the house the next two nights. The sounds continued, and no one could locate them. The watchmen would sit right at the head of the basement stairs, yet the ghostly footsteps seemed to come up the steps right to them. It was thought that some boys were playing tricks. So a watchman was put outside the house and one inside, and the third night, when the sounds were heard, the one inside fired a bullet from a 38-calibre revolver directly through the door. It made a hole as large as a man's thumb, but no mortal form felt its effect. The ghost ceased his walks then, but reappeared last Saturday night, came again last night, and is expected to-night.

The sons of Mr. Gudergahn, who own the property, took up the flooring, to see if concealed wires and weights were not making the noise. They charge that their uncle is trying to depreciate the property, and they also told Meistrup that he was trying to get hold of the property at a cheap price. They are very much excited over the affair. The wife of Mr. Meistrup is very much frightened over the strange sounds, and he thinks he will be compelled to move.

BOGUS DOCTORS.

A Test Case as to Fraudulent Medical Colleges.

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 4.—The test case of Dr. Wendel, one of the alleged graduates of Coney's fraudulent medical college, came up before Judge Mallory. The "doctor" was found guilty of practicing without any authorized diploma. Judge Mallory refused to allow the diploma held by Wendel from Coney in evidence, on the ground that Coney's institution, while chartered as an educational institution, had no right to issue diplomas. The case will be appealed to the Supreme Court. Should the rulings of the lower court be sustained, there are quite a number of alleged graduates who will be placed in an interesting position. Coney takes an active interest in Wendel's defense. Seeing the far-reaching probabilities of an adverse ruling, he is fighting the case for all there is in it.

President Arthur.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 4.—The President is expected to return to the White House the latter part of the week, and his private apartments have been put in order for immediate occupation. It seems to be decided that he will not visit the Soldier's Home Cottage again this year, at least take up his residence there. Mrs. Meistrup, the President's sister, and his daughter, Nellie, are now at the Cottage superintending the removal of personal effects to the Executive Mansion. All the attaches of the mansion have been recalled and are on duty, and everything is in readiness for the reception of the master of the house. Everything for his comfort has been looked after, and among the most important improvements is a better system of drainage and sanitary arrangements.

A Kiting Regarding Newspapers.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—Inquiries from many persons as to whether they could be compelled to pay for newspapers sent to their address without authority have called forth the following ruling from the Postoffice Department. The liability of a party to pay for a newspaper must be determined by the rules applicable to other contracts. When a publisher, without request from the party, either expressed or implied, sends a paper, the mere fact that the party addressed takes the paper from the postoffice does not of itself create liability to pay for it. It takes two to make a contract, and one party, without the consent of the other, can not make him his debtor.

Yellow Fever.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—A soldier has died of yellow fever at Camp Huachuca, N. M., and quarantine is asked against New Mexico. Fever is said at Mazatlan, Mexico, that every house is a hospital, and no attempt is made to keep count of the deaths. The disease has also made its appearance at many points in Central America, and is coming northward.

say They Were Not Deceived.

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—The officers of the Sub-Treasury deny the statement from Washington that they have been deceived by counterfeit coin or notes, and say that the only cases in which they have been deceived are in a half a dozen filled gold coins which had been split and gauged, filled with base metal, soldered and re-milled on the edges, these coins being accurate in weight and true in ring.

A Monument For Fenians.

DUBLIN, Oct. 4.—A large and enthusiastic meeting was held here for the purpose of raising funds for the erection of a monument to the memory of the men who have died in penal servitude for their connection with the Fenian movement in 1867. Michael Davitt presided.

SEARON'S WOMAN SCRAPE.

He Wants Miss Hill to Show That Marriage License.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Oct. 4.—Senator Sharon commenced a suit in the United States Circuit Court against Aggie Hill, declaring that the alleged contract of marriage between himself and her (claimed by Miss Hill to be in her possession) is a fraudulent document, and that no such contract was ever signed by him, or promise of marriage given. He asks the court to compel Miss Hill to produce the alleged contract, and to retain possession of it, in order that its fraudulent character may be proven. He denies ever having been married since he became a widower, and states that the object of Miss Hill in perpetrating the alleged marriage contract is to lay a claim on his estate in the event of his death.

An Informer Afraid of His Life.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 4.—Joseph Smith, one of the Phoenix Park murderers, who, with Carey and others, turned informer, while on a voyage on board a ship which stopped here on its passage, was recognized, became alarmed and went to the British Consul for protection. That official, as soon as possible, reshipped Smith on board another vessel, and it is believed he has gone to China.

A Frightful Battle.

LOUISIANA, Ark., Oct. 4.—A frightful affair occurred in Natchitoches Parish. A crowd of colored men quarreled in a saloon. A pitched battle with dirks ensued. James Stand stabbed Isaac Robinson, and the latter bled to death. A son of Robinson shot Stand dead. Ezra Robinson shot and killed two others. Before the melee was over six were dead and four fatally wounded. No arrest was made.

AYER'S Hair Vigor

restores, with the gloss and freshness of youth, faded or gray hair to a natural, rich brown color, or deep black, as may be desired. By its use light or red hair may be darkened, thin hair thickened, and baldness often, though not always, cured.

It checks falling of the hair, and stimulates a weak and sickly growth to vigor. It prevents and cures seurf and dandruff, and heals nearly every disease peculiar to the scalp. As a Ladies' Hair Dressing, the Vigor is unequalled; it contains neither oil nor dye, renders the hair soft, glossy, and silken in appearance, and imparts a delicate, agreeable, and lasting perfume.

Mr. C. P. BRIDGER writes from Kirby, O., July 3, 1882: "Last fall my hair commenced falling out, and in a short time I became nearly bald. I used part of a bottle of AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, which stopped the falling of the hair, and started a new growth. I have now a full head of hair growing vigorously, and am convinced that but for the use of your preparation I should have been entirely bald."

J. W. BOWEN, proprietor of the McArthur (Ohio) Enquirer, says: "AYER'S HAIR VIGOR is a most excellent preparation for the hair. I speak of it from my own experience. Its use promotes the growth of new hair, and makes it glossy and soft. The Vigor is also a sure cure for dandruff. Not within my knowledge has the preparation ever failed to give entire satisfaction."

MR. ASH'S FAIRHAIR, leader of the celebrated "Fairhair Family" of Scottish Voodists, writes from Boston, Mass., Feb. 6, 1880: "Ever since my hair began to give silvery evidence of the change which destiny thus procreth, I have used AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, and so have been able to maintain an appearance of youthfulness—a matter of considerable consequence to ministers, orators, actors, and in fact every one who lives in the eyes of the public."

MRS. O. A. PRESCOTT, writing from 18 Elm St., Charleston, Mass., April 14, 1882, says: "Two years ago about two-thirds of my hair came off. It thinned very rapidly, and I was fast growing bald. On using AYER'S HAIR VIGOR the falling stopped and a new growth commenced, and in about a month my head was completely covered with short hair. It has continued to grow, and is now as good as before I fell. I regularly used but one bottle of the Vigor, but now use it occasionally as a dressing."

We have hundreds of similar testimonials to the efficacy of AYER'S HAIR VIGOR. It needs but a trial to convince the most skeptical of its value.
